Brazilian association football club based in Belém, Pará, Brazil Soccer club

Clube do Remo, commonly referred to as Remo, is a Brazilian 2 professional club based in Belém, Pará founded on 5 February 1905.

It competes in the Campeonato Brasileiro Série C, the third 2 tier of Brazilian football, as well as in the Campeonato Paraense, the top flight of the Pará state football league.

History 2 [edit]

Clube do Remo was founded on 5 February 1905, as Grupo do Remo.

The founders, before founding Remo, had 2 abandoned Sport Club do Pará.

On 14 February 1908, Remo was closed, after the club's general assembly.

On 29 March 1908, Remo's 2 partners and Sport Club do Pará made a deal, and Remo was officially extinct in 1908.

On 15 August 1911, Remo 2 was reorganized following the initiative of Antonico Silva, Cândido Jucá, Carl Schumann, Elzaman Magalhães, Geraldo Motta, Jayme Lima, Norton Corllet, 2 Oscar Saltão, Otto Bartels and Palmério Pinto.[1]

In 1950, Remo held a tour to Venezuela at the invitation of the football 2 federation of the country to compete in the Caracas International Tournament, which, according to some publications, may have been the 2 precursor of the Little World Cup, played between the 1950s and 1960s.

The team held five matches, getting four wins (La 2 Salle, Unión, Military School and Deportivo Italia) and only one loss to Loyola, considering the higher strength of the Venezuelan 2 football at the time.

Remo is still seeking official recognition of the title by the CONMEBOL.

If accepted, will be the first 2 international title in club history.

Remo also has great campaigns on the national scene.

His most outstanding campaigns were the 7th place 2 in the Campeonato Brasileiro Série A in 1993 and the semifinals in the Copa do Brasil in 1991 – these 2 results represent the best performance of a northern team in the history of both competitions.

In 2005, the club won the 2 Campeonato Brasileiro Série C.

This was the club's first national title.

The club also has one title of the Copa Verde, three 2 of the Torneio do Norte and one Torneio Norte-Nordeste, as well as being one of the largest state winners.

Symbols [2 edit]Crest [edit]

The first Remo's emblem consisted of a navy blue rectangle, with the center a white anchor, 2 in obliquely, circled by thirteen stars of the same color.

After the reorganization of 1911, the anchor gave way to a 2 format shield similar to a buoy lifeguard, crossed by a pair of oars.

At the top was the description "Grupo do 2 Remo" and the environment, the initials "GR" intertwined.

In 1914, the college is renamed Clube do Remo.

With this change, the shield 2 also is renewed.

The circular uniformity of the previous badge is maintained by adding the typical symmetrical side cut-outs of British 2 heraldry - heritage of some founders of the club with academic training in Europe, especially in England.

The acronym GR gives 2 way to the CR.

Over the years, the shield has undergone some changes, without change your style.

The last change occurred in 2 2013, seeking to rescue the origins of the club and to combine the concept of modernity.

According to the Brand Manual, 2 the Bluean shield now has a finish on the sidelines and superior to characterize volume and three-dimensionality, in addition to 2 the reversal of the stars color according to the degree of importance of each title - five white representing the 2 five state titles consecutive and golden, representing the national title of Campeonato Brasileiro Série C in 2005.

Anthem [edit]

The 2 hymn of Clube do Remo came to an adjustment made by the poet Antônio Tavernard the carnival march created by 2 Emílio Albim for block Cadetes Azulinos, created in 1933 and was formed by athletes, members, leaders and supporters who roamed 2 the streets of Belém bound Republic Square.

Tavernard exchanged 30 march of words to create the anthem of Azulinos Athletes, first 2 published in the newspaper O Estado do Pará on 4 November 1941.

Colours [edit]

Raul Engelhard, one of the founders 2 of the Grupo do Remo, on 5 February 1905, had been a student in England.

Rowing Club supporter, also party race, 2 has proposed that the official color of Remo was the same of Rowing: the United Kingdom's imperial blue.

In 1911, the 2 Grupo do Remo (regattas) turned Clube do Remo and, two years later, already disputed the first Campeonato Paraense, with horizontal 2 stripes shirts in Navy Blue and white.

Traditional home kit [edit]

Since it emerged, the club features navy blue and 2 white as its official colors.

Thus, the main uniforms of all types adopt navy blue as the predominant color, reversing the 2 order in secondary uniforms.

The shirt used by the team in his first football match had horizontal stripes.

In the 1970s, the 2 prestigious magazine Revista Placar, elected the best supported clubs in each Brazilian state and the Leão Azul again confirmed its 2 supremacy in Pará.

In the 90s contributed further to the increase in Clube do Remo fans, due to the large made 2 the club in this period: eight state titles, large national campaigns and supremacy in the Classic King of the Amazon 2 (the taboo history of 33 games without losing for the biggest rival).

However, from the 2000s, the Clube do Remo began 2 to get into a turbulent period in its history with successive failures in national competitions like the relegation for the 2 Série C in 2005 and getting even without play a national championship three times.

Despite the difficulties, the fans, contrary to 2 expectations, only increased.

Proof of this was the IBOPE which ranked the Clube do Remo as the largest North of Brazil 2 and the 16th in the ranking of the largest supporters of the country, besides being the northern fastest growing among 2 fans in the range of 10 to 15 years, surpassing clubs like Botafogo, Fluminense and Coritiba.

In Belém, Remo focuses its 2 biggest fans.

Currently, bluish appearance ranging from 1 million to 2 million.

Rivalries [edit]

Remo's biggest rival is Paysandu, with whom 2 he plays the Clássico Rei da Amazônia (Amazon King derby) or Re-Pa, the largest in the northern region of Brazil.

The 2 first game took place on 14 June 1914, with Remo winning 2–1.

The Pericá's Club has the most wins in the 2 derby.

Between 1993 and 1997, Remo applied a historical taboo on the rival.

There were 33 matches (21 wins and 12 draws) 2 in 4 years, 5 months and 24 days.

In 2016, the derby was declared intangible cultural heritage of the Pará state, 2 being qualified as a cultural expression of the people of Pará.

[2] To this day, more than 760 matches were played 2 between both clubs; which makes this rivalry the football derby with most games played in history, beating even the oldest 2 derbies from Europe.

Also, a further minor rivalry exists between Remo and Tuna Luso.

The first match happened on 15 November 1931.

It 2 was a friendly that ended tied at 0–0.

Stadiums [edit]

Remo's stadium is Evandro Almeida (Baenão), which has a maximum 2 capacity of 17,250 people.

The stadium is named after Evandro Almeida, who was a Remo's football player and employee.

The nickname Baenão 2 is a reference to the place where the stadium is located, called Travessa Antônio Baena.

Mangueirão is used for the derbies 2 against Paysandu and also for Remo big matches, where the record attendance for Remo occurred on 5 November 2000, in 2 a Copa João Havelange Group Yellow semifinal match attended by 55,000 fans against Paraná.
